THE DEMOCRATS ARE VICTORIOUS

J. E. Pemberton Selects Himself as Mayor of Ukiah

The New Trustees Reorganize the Board and the Only Republican Representative Resigns His Office.

The board of city trustees met Monday evening last and canvassed the vote cast at the late municipal election.

The vote was as published in last week's issue of THE PRESS.

When the new members of the board had been inducted into office they proceeded to reorganize.

The vote cast for president of the board resulted as follows:

For Pemberton—Trustees Gibson, Charlton and Pemberton. For T. L. Carothers—Sam Orr. Mr. Carothers refrained from voting.

After Mr. Pemberton had elected himself he took the chair and the routine business of the board was then transacted.

The first proposition to come before the board was the resignation of Mr. Carothers as a member. The resignation was accepted, and it is probable that J. B. Sanford, leader of the local Democratic push, will get the place. The Republicans of Ukiah, who have studiously refrained from mixing up partisanship with local affairs, are willing that Mr. Sanford should secure the place.

The city attorney was instructed to interview W. J. Ellis in regard to the alleged renting of his premises for immoral purposes. The attorney is to report Monday next.

The bonds of City Clerk Carothers and Marshal DeMerritt were approved.

Bids for sprinkling the streets were received and refeered to the city attorney.

Warren DeMerritt resigned as poundmaster.

LOCAL SPORTS ARE APPALLED

They Take a Fall Out of Lakeland and Lose.

A Bunch of Financiers Back Pete O'Neil's Runner and Land in the Soup---Various Purses Are Now Very Flat.

The horse, Lakeland, owned by Pete O'Neil, of this city, created a great sensation at the Oakland track Saturday last. A number of boys in this city backed the animal, for, as far as they could learn, he was scheduled by the bookies to win. But he didn't, and it was a sad day for many sports in Ukiah when the news arrived that the local favorite wasn't in it.

We had been so accustomed for everything in this county to take the cake—we had seen the great high schools of San Francisco and Berkeley go down before the athletes of this city—that we naturally imagined that everything was coming our way.

But we got left on Lakeland. He ran up against a field in the unlucky 13, and the boys here now say that the mascot was a fake.

Frank White says that although Lakeland opened up at 10 to 1 he didn't get in till a quarter to five.

Lee Taylor says that he lost a wad on Lakeland, and that he now believes the horse couldn't head a cow—if the cow had an even start.

Ike Ackerman attended the race, but succeeded in getting back. It is said there were traces of dust on his shoes.

Jake Newcomer, of Willits, opened up several bots on the strength of the message which arrived Saturday stating that Lakeland was first. The party who telephoned him, however, neglected to state that he counted from the wrong end.

George Hurd takes the defeat complacently. He declares that there are others, and that there is no kick coming.

Jim Cunningham thinks it was a cold day, although he had sold out his ice plant several weeks ago.

Jack Moore says he don't want any more tips of that kind, as he wouldn't know a good thing if he saw it in front of the Castle Bar.

A herd of Reubens went down from this city, but as yet they haven't all returned. Some of them are scheduled by the Trinity route.

John O'Neil, the old time race man, who runs the sample rooms on Perkins street in the absence of his son, Pete, says that he is now endeavoring to secure Lakeland as a packhorse for his coming trip to Idaho. Lee Taylor is negotiating for a half interest in the animal.

The following item in the Bulletin shows how the affair was regarded in sporting circles:

A hand bookmaker broke all records when Lakeland started the other day at Oakland. He laid a patron six ways on this celebrated steed, and it came about in a joking way. The talent will recall that there was a hot tip out on Lakeland. On his previous start he should have been 60 to 1, but the tip was so strong that the books held him at 10 to 1.

"Here's $10. Split it up three ways on Lakeland," said a patron, rushing up to a certain hand bookmaker on Market street, for fear that somebody would beat him to the price.

"Pshaw, he'll be last," replied the bookie.

"I'll gamble he won't," retorted the enthusiastic piker.

"Now, I'll tell you what I'll do," said the bookie. "I'll bet you another $10 that Lakeland will be last, and another $10 that he won't finish better than second from last, and another $10 that he won't finish better than third from last."

Before his words had cooled the bookie was called, and such a headache for the piker when he read the next day that Lakeland had finished where the bookie said he would.

Nervous Prostration Cured by DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

"I am an engineer by trade and the hard work and worry of running a large engine brought on nervous prostration," writes Mr. Chas. F. Dixon, of Arbuckle, Colusa Co., Calif. "A friend recommended Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to me and I bought one bottle; thought that it helped me so continued the use of it until I had taken six bottles. I feel better than ever in my life. Am not a particle nervous, can work hard all day and sleep sound at night. I not only think so but I know that the 'Golden Medical Discovery' cured me and therefore I will recommend it to others."

NEWS OF THE WORLD.

HAPPENINGS OF THE PAST FEW DAYS FROM ALL QUARTERS.

Heavy Damages Against the New York Central—Supplies Reach the Miners at Thunder Mountain—Valuable Piece of Paper—Innovation In Church Service

Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands is suffering from typhoid fever.

The Shissler pack train, the first to reach Thunder mountain (Ida.) mining camp, relieved the stringency for food supplies. Flour was sold at $30 a sack and sugar and bacon at 75 cents a pound.

Dr. Barton has challenged M. Santos-Dumont for the Pearson prize of $20,000 for going from London to Birmingham, a distance of 100 miles, in an airship. Dr. Barton has also challenged M. Santos-Dumont to race from London to Edinburgh for any sum up to $50,000.

Important news has reached Washington to the effect that Russia has agreed to surrender Manchuria and turn the whole province back to China. Within one year from the signing of the treaty Russia agrees to evacuate Manchuria completely, so far as military or civil control is concerned.

A loaded freight car broke loose at Eclipse, on the Florence and Cripple Creek railroad, and started down a steep grade toward Anaconda, says a Victor (Colo.) dispatch. Conductor Blondy, on an engine directed by Engineer Rush, undertook to capture the car to prevent a collision with a suburban train due to leave Anaconda about the same time, but the operator at Eclipse succeeded in holding the passenger train as it was pulling out of Anaconda. The car was overtaken four seconds from that station. Conductor Blondy, from the pilot, made a coupling, the air-brake was applied and the runaway was brought to a standstill.

In a suit for $1,500,000 brought by Herbert W. Pearson against the Great Northern Railway company, Judge Kelly of St. Paul awarded Mr. Pearson $500 on account of unpaid salary and judgment for his costs and disbursements. Pearson sued on an alleged contract, claiming that he was employed by the railroad company to operate coal fields in Montana and Washington, and held that he was entitled to a percentage of the value of the coal fields which he said he had discovered. The railway company declared that the coal fields which Pearson said he had discovered were well known long before he found them, and objected to paying the royalty demanded. The $500 allowed is for salary for the time he was engaged by the road in making the search.

Archdeacon Wilberforce of Westminster started "smoking church services" recently. He invited the men who were fitting up Westminster abbey for the coronation to spare a part of their dinner hour to religion, gave each man an ounce of tobacco, and told the men to come and smoke and make themselves at home during the service. The men were delighted by the novel proposition and have been assembling in the cloisters daily to the number of upward of 100. They join heartily in the hymns and Lord's prayer, occasionally taking a drink from their beer-cans, though they invariably remove their caps and pipes during prayers. In the meanwhile, the abbey is rigorously closed to the public.

In the Altar district, northern Sonora, Mexico, near Tabutama, a party of American miners headed by Charles Con O'Keefe, an Arizona mineral expert, came upon a mine dump of enormous proportions grown entirely over with timber. Searching further, they found a sealed entrance to the workings, and, breaking this down, they discovered what was once a mine of extraordinary size, says a Phœnix (A. T.) dispatch. Near the entrance was a big pile of silver ingots and tools. Further in was a number of skeletons. They partially explored the workings and found millions of tons of silver ore in sight. The mine is believed to have been worked by Toltecs or Aztecs and closed hundreds of years ago, when Indians drove the race from the country.

Henry C. Frick, the steel magnate, has deposited at the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York what is said to be one of the most valuable pieces of paper in existence. It is a certificate for 100,000 shares of preferred stock in the United States Steel corporation, yielding Frick dividends of $700,000 annually. It is stated that the deposit was made for the purpose of exchanging two-fifths of the preferred stock it represents into $4,000,000 worth of bonds of the proposed new issue. The balance in the deal, $6,000,000, will be repaid to Mr. Frick in the shape of a new preferred stock certificate.

J. P. Morgan, according to London dispatches, has practically consummated the plan to combine all the leading transatlantic steamship lines. The companies to be consolidated will, it is understood, include the American, Red Star, White Star, Dominion, Atlantic Transport and Leyland lines. Other lines may be absorbed, while it is understood that a "working agreement" will be reached with other transatlantic companies, including the North German Lloyd, Hamburg-American, General Transatlantic and Allan and Anchor lines.

The first case of many instituted against the New York Central railroad for loss of life in the Park-avenue tunnel disaster Jan. 8 last was tried in the supreme court at White Plains, N. Y., and resulted in a verdict of $60,000 for the plaintiff, Lottie G. Dimon of New Rochelle, who sued for $100,000 for the loss of her husband, Henry G. Dimon. Dimon was 32 years old. He received a salary of $4,000 per annum when killed. If the same ratio of damages is awarded in the other cases as in the Dimon case, the disaster will cost the railroad more than $2,000,000 in personal damages alone.

FIFTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS.

Tuesday.

The debate in the senate on the Chinese exclusion had little of interest, as it was evident that the Mitchell-Kahn bill would have to give place to the Platt substitute in its new form.

The debate in the house on the Cuban reciprocity bill was without particular interest.

Wednesday.

The senate adopted the Platt substitute for the Kahn-Mitchell exclusion bill, the solitary opponent of Chinese exclusion being Senator Hoar of Massachusetts. The bill as passed extends all the present Chinese exclusion laws during the life of the present treaty and until a new treaty shall be concluded. The exclusion laws are applied to all territory under the jurisdiction of the United States. The clause prohibiting the employment of Chinese sailors on American vessels was eliminated.

The friends of the Cuban reciprocity bill won a substantial victory in the house by carrying a motion to close general debate on Friday at 3 p. m.

Thursday.

The senate straightened out the parliamentary questions concerning the Chinese exclusion bill by taking up the house bill, striking out all after the enacting clause and inserting the senate bill. The house bill, thus amended, goes into conference.

The opponents of the Cuban reciprocity bill occupied most of the time of the debate in the house, the feature being a vigorous speech by Cushman (R.) of Washington against the measure. De Armond (D.) of Missouri delivered a forcible speech in favor of tariff reduction on trust articles.

Friday.

The senate began consideration of the bill temporarily to provide a form of government for the Philippine islands.

The Cuban reciprocity bill, with a section added removing the refined sugar differential, passed the house by an overwhelming majority, 347 to 53.

Saturday.

The Cuban reciprocity bill is now in the senate. Senator Teller introduced a resolution, which was referred to the committee on relations with Cuba, for an investigation of the sugar trust's holdings in the island of Cuba, to ascertain if the trust would not be the only beneficiary under the proposed law.

The house passed the fortification appropriation bill, which carries $6,562,455. A bill was passed reserving from the public lands in Oregon a public park for the benefit of the people of the United States.

Monday.

The senate passed the river and harbor bill, carrying in appropriations about $70,000,000.

The house entered upon the consideration of the military academy bill. Gilbert of Kentucky took occasion to reply to some remarks recently made by Gillett of Massachusetts, Bromwell of Ohio and General Funston which he thought reflected upon his state. Gilbert said that in the south they looked with supreme contempt upon the social equality of the races. Gillett replied that he did not sympathize with a state of society which accepted a man whose hands were stained with the blood of lynching, or election frauds, but rejected a pure, worthy man simply because his skin was black.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Gunner Charles Morgan of the navy was recently examined for promotion. The report of the board shows that Morgan was "morally unfit" for the advanced grade. Morgan is the man to whose promotion, a year or two ago, admiral Sampson objected.

The British and German governments have lodged strong protests with the state department against that part of the Philippine tariff, recently enacted, which authorizes the rebate of a portion of the export duties on Philippine products when imported into the United States. Germany and England import from Manila vast quantities of hemp and the rebate afforded to American importers will amount, it is alleged, to a difference of three-eighths of a cent a pound in favor of the American ropemaker, a discrimination which, according to the protestants, will practically destroy the British and German trade.

Secretary Root has forwarded to congress a request for an appropriation of $100,000 for the military prison on Alcatraz island at San Francisco, with a capacity of 500 prisoners, the plans to provide for the increase of the capacity to 800 if required. The commanding officer at Alcatraz reports that in his opinion "the prison buildings at this post are not fit places for confining human beings under any possible circumstances whatever."

He Lived In Squalor, Though Wealthy.

Four years ago James A. Evelyth, living near Sioux City, Ia., owner of a farm of 1,000 acres worth $75,000, and father of seven sons, drew $13,000 from a bank and next day disappeared. Since then his wife has searched the country for him, and the police throughout the United States had his picture. At last she gave up the search and asked the district court at Sioux City to set aside her share in the estate.

Recently Mrs. Evelyth received a letter informing her that her husband was living near Redondo, in Los Angeles county, Cal., in a rude hut. His son found him, his clothing in rags, his hair long and tangled. Misery and squalor were evident in the habitation of this man whose mansion is the finest in all the county whence he came. He fiercely resisted all efforts to take him away from his rude shanty, for in his dementia he did not recognize his son. Mrs. Evelyth was appointed her husband's guardian, and she will bring back to their home the husband who has for four years lived in needless poverty.

It is estimated that 44,000 settlers have gone into the state of Washington this spring.

A most enjoyable time was spent at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. Frost last Thursday evening in honor of their son Ernest's sixteenth birthday. The evening was spent in music and playing games on the croquet grounds. Ernest was the recipient of many little birthday tokens. Refreshments were served at 12 oclock, consisting of ice cream, lemonade and cake. It was the wee small hours before the merry crowd took their departure, all wishing Ernest many birthdays just as happy as this one had been.

The Rebekahs are preparing to give an entertainment on the 26th at the I. O. O. F. hall. One of the leading features of the evening will be songs by the Ukiah quartet. No pains is being spared to make the entertainment a success, which in fact is assured by the local talent that is taking part.

Potter Valley Items.

POTTER, April 22.—As the names of those who were elected at the last municipal election appeared in last week's issue of the paper we will not repeat them.

On the same day the school house in Centerville was sold at public auction, preparatory for the building of the new one this fall, of which we have before mentioned.

The committee of arrangements for the farmers' institute met on the evening of the 19th inst, and decided to hold an institute on or near the 1st of October.

George Raymond and wife visited week before last in Willits.

Miss Nina Mendenhall of Upperlake visited in Willits, as did also Miss Lena Jones of Pomo and Misses Minta and Laura Eddie.

Bessie, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mathews, is slowly recovering from a long and severe illness.

Miss Etta Hopkins, who has been in Santa Rosa for some time taking music, returned to her home Saturday evening last.

Rev. Raymond and family of Willits have been here for the past week or more conducting a series of meetings in the M. E. church.

With feelings of sympathy we tell you of the unexpected death of George Russel Spotswood, eldest child of J. W. and Addie Spotswood, which occurred on Saturday evening last, between 7 and 8 oclock. After having eaten a hearty meal, and in apparent good health, he with a younger brother and some more young companions, started to town to buy a new hat for himself. In gay sport the boys started to run; at a short distance from the house George halted, saying he was dizzy, after which he fell, the others running on to the corner, telling him to get up and come on, thinking he was fooling them, but on reaching the corner, which was only a short distance, they decided to return and see if anything could be the matter.

When they saw his lifeless condition, the alarm was given and he was soon taken indoors, and Dr. Hopkins was called and everything was done to restore him, but alas, life had fled. In falling, we were informed, the neck was broken. Whether that or some internal cause was the result of his death, we are left to conjecture. Only this sad fact we know that a short distance from the house he fell, and was brought in a lifeless form. The sorrowing father and mother have the sympathy of the entire community.

George was born on the 11th of February, 1889, making him 13 years 2 months and some days old, but in those few years he had grown dear to many hearts. We can truthfully say of him from a knowledge and by reputation, he was truthful, obedient and altogether a good and promising boy, and a comfort and stay to his father and mother already, though young in years.

Most of all to be admired was the good principals of the boy, but the constructive ability even from a child was something toward the promise of a successful future, together with his other necessary characteristics. He will also be long remembered by those who had occasion to know him. Gentle and loving with the little sisters, as we saw him, but sometimes in a mild and boylike way teased.

In some homes where sickness dwelt a bouquet of wild flowers was often taken by him to brighten the sick room, and wild game besides he took to tempt the appetite. Other acts of kindness are accredited to his favor.

Yesterday the services were conducted by Rev. Raymond at the M. E. church, and many were the tokens of love, in flowers, in attestation of sympathy for the bereaved and respect for the departed. His schoolmates also marched in solemn array, each laying a spray of blossoms on the casket of the silent sleeper. Besides a fond father, mother, younger brother, five little sisters, one half brother, three half sisters, and other relatives mourn his loss.

It was doubly hard on the mother, as she is just recovering from an accident of two weeks ago. She was walking around the barn and accidentally stepped on a nail, causing it to penetrate through the right foot. We hope the remaining ones left the sorrowing parents may grow up blessings, and in some measure compensate his loss. VERA.

WHIPPED THE WRONG MAN.

"Fighting" over a telegraph wire with a man several hundred miles away is not an unusual occurrence among telegraph operators. W. H. Le Hew, a Seaboard Air line train dispatcher, tells of a fight he once had over the wire with an odd sequel. He was quarreling with an operator, J. H. Chapman, many miles out on the road, and as the quarrel waxed warm Le Hew declared he would go down the next day and personally whip his antagonist. Chapman thought it would result as most "wire scraps" do—in nothing—and did not worry any more about it, believing he and Le Hew would be as good friends as ever the next time they worked together over a wire. The next day, however, Le Hew boarded a local freight train and, according to his promise, got off at the distant station to whip Chapman. He walked into the telegraph office and demanded:

"Are you the operator here?"

"Yes, sir," replied the man at the instrument.

Without further ado Le Hew sailed in and whipped him.

That night Chapman called up Le Hew, saying he was surprised that Le Hew had come there while he was away at dinner and had whipped his substitute.—New York Tribune.

Bernhardt Paragraphed.

Sarah Bernhardt recently took out a policy on her life for $100,000 for the benefit of her son, Maurice, and to the various questions asked her by the examiners the following interesting facts were laid bare:

The "divine Sarah" was born Oct. 23, 1844. She is 5 feet 6½ inches tall and weighs 130 pounds.

Her full name is Sarah Bernhardt Damala. She owns $100,000 worth of real estate in Paris, and during the theatrical season she earns the tidy sum of $10,000 a week.

The only kind of liquor she drinks is one glass of champagne at dinner, and her principal food is the fresh pressed juice of beef.

Her art occupies practically all her time. When traveling, her staff consists of a female companion, a masseuse, two menservants and two maids.

She never wears stays, and the insurance examiners pronounced her a most excellent risk.—Philadelphia North American.

A Royal Beau.

Without doubt the coronation of King Edward VII. will be the most costly and elaborate "full dress" affair that has occurred in modern times. But King Edward will not be permitted to look upon such a wonderful display of costumes as greeted the eye of his distinguished predecessor, Edward III. This beau of the fourteenth century was a spectacle that must have added greatly to the gayety of nations. He wore long pointed shoes, fastened to his knee by gold or silver chains, hose of one color on one leg and another color on the other; a coat the one half white and the other half black or blue; a long silk hood, buttoned under his chin, embroidered with grotesque figures of animals and dancing men.—Buffalo Commercial.

Loud's Campaign Toothpicks.

William S. Ballard, an employee of the senate, has an interesting relic of a California campaign, which he carries in his vest pocket. It is a celluloid toothpick with an excellent miniature likeness of Representative Loud of California printed on its back, with the inscription "My pick for congress." During the last campaign Mr. Loud's district was filled with these toothpicks. Popular hotels and eating houses served them to their guests, and thousands of his friends supplied them for their tables at home. The fight didn't prove to be a very close one. Loud polled over 5,000 votes more than his Democratic opponent. —Washington Star.

After One Coronation.

The late Lord Salisbury, the father of the present prime minister, acted as one of the train bearers at the coronation of George IV., and his reminiscences of the event are given in Notes and Queries. The weight of the robes gave each of the bearers "a Turkish bath of some hours' duration." The king suffered quite as much as the bearers. When the ceremony was over, his majesty was discovered in his dressing room at the abbey "walking up and down in a state of nudity, but with the crown on his head."

Captured His Own Men.

One of the odd things of campaigning happened to Lord Methuen. In order to trap a few Boers he made a rapid night march. Unfortunately the night was pitch dark, and his guides were indifferent. Moving with great caution, he suddenly found himself close to a convoy, rushed and successfully captured it. It was his own, and he had been marching in a circle.

Frank R. Stockton, the well-known novelist, died recently at Washington from paralysis immediately resulting from hemorrhage of the brain.

At a general council of the Labor party held at Brussels it was resolved that work by the strikers in all sections should be resumed.

Joseph Austin, former park commissioner and port warden of San Francisco, died recently of blood-poisoning at his residence, 340 Page street, San Francisco. He was one of the best known men in local shipping circles, and had many friends. Mr. Austin was nearly 70 years of age and was a native of Scotland, having come to San Francisco in 1858.

Incorporation papers of the Blast Furnace Smelting company, with the capital stock of $1,000,000, fully paid up, were filed in the county clerk's office at Los Angeles. The object of the company is to establish a smelter in the vicinity of Los Angeles and to engage in the business of treating ores, building telephone and telegraph lines, railroads, etc.

Charles G. Mains, the 10-year-old boy who was shot in the forehead with a .22-calibre rifle in the hands of a companion recently in Oakland, Cal., is slowly recovering, notwithstanding the fact that the bullet is still imbedded in his brain. The doctors say there is little doubt of the boy's recovery. The bullet was allowed to remain in the head because it could not be removed without seriously injuring the brain—probably with fatal results.

W. N. Crenshaw, organizer for the Fraternal Brotherhood, was recently ridden out of Nashton, near Tuolumne, Cal., for rashly saying that all Native Daughters were of questionable character. He swore to complaints against several of those who took a hand in the affair, and at the trial the courtroom was crowded with men and women. Crenshaw denied the statements attributed to him, but the evidence was against him, and the men whom he had caused to be arrested were acquitted by the jury. Crenshaw, in fear of a mob that awaited him outside the courtroom, slipped out by a rear door and over the hills before the crowd was aware of his departure.

Dr. Westlake of Los Angeles has 40 acres of three-year-old Corsica citron trees in the foothills near Monrovia, from which he has obtained 25,000 pounds of cured citron. He has refused 15 cents a pound for the entire crop, and expects to realize much more than that price. This is the largest grove of the Corsica citron in the United States. Dr. Westlake has discovered a method of curing the product equal to that employed in Europe, and purposes establishing a factory to conduct the business on a large scale.

IN THE PHILIPPINES.

General Smith Says American Soldiers Acted With Great Forbearance.

Surrenders to the American authorities of small parties of insurgents are reported daily, and these have increased since the recent surrender of the insurgent General Malvar, says a Manila dispatch. General Rufino, with 26 officers and 375 soldiers, has surrendered to the native constabulary in the province of Misamis, in Mindanao, where the constabulary are co-operating with the military.

Orders have been received at Manila from Washington to hold a court of inquiry into the general conduct of affairs in Samar. General Smith says that, to the best of his belief, the officers and men of his command in Samar had to face insurmountable difficulties; that the hardships they encountered were almost unbearable, and that the treachery of the natives of the island is unequaled in the history of warfare. He says the American soldiers acted, in the circumstances, with the greatest forbearance shown in the war in the Philippines. General Smith also expressed his doubt if the troops of any other nation in the world would or could have acted, in the circumstances, in Samar, as well as did the Americans.

CRIMES AND ACCIDENTS.

John O'Brien and Edward Miller, employed at the Exposed Treasure Gold Mining company's plant near Mojave, entered the cyanide tanks for the purpose of cleaning them. The fumes had not all escaped when the two men entered the tanks, and O'Brien, being quickly overcome, fell in an unconscious condition to the bottom of the tank, where he died. Miller's calls for help attracted the attention of the other employees, and he was rescued as he was about to give up hope. O'Brien leaves a widow in Los Angeles.

The steamer City of Pittsburg was discovered to be on fire near Ogdens Landing, near Cairo, Ills., and in a few minutes was burned to the water's edge. Of the 150 persons on board nearly all were asleep at the time, and it is estimated that 60 lives were lost. The burning steamer was quickly headed for the bank. Many persons who jumped off the stern and tried to swim ashore through the swift current were drowned. Many also perished in the flames. The Pittsburg was on her way from Cincinnati to Memphis.

VROOMAN'S MODEL VILLAGE.

Ruskin College Founder to Engage In New Enterprise.

Walter Vrooman, founder of Ruskin college in England and head of the great co-operative enterprises which have their center at Trenton, Mo., has announced that he will build a model village near Kansas City. The village will, within a few months, have a dozen factories running. It will have churches, schoolhouses, dwellings, stores and places of amusement, and all will be built at Vrooman's expense.

"The village will be built and conducted along the lines suggested in a book recently written by Professor John Dewey of the university of Chicago," said Vrooman. "It will be more for the welfare of children than grown people. There will be playgrounds of all kinds, and one of the principal buildings will be a house where children can live under the care of young women nurses and teachers."

Vrooman said that he would open 25 co-operative stores in Kansas City in a few weeks. He is making arrangements for what he calls "co-operative revival week," which begins May 12. He has leased the Canterbury theater for the week and free performances will be given by the Walter Jefferson Dramatic company. The Vrooman stores, opened in northern Missouri some time ago, are all thriving. Those in Trenton are the largest, as that place is one of the strongholds of the "reformers."

FOREIGN ITEMS.

The Grand Duchess Helene, the headstrong daughter of Grand Duke Vladimir of Russia, who is uncle to the czar, has married a student, says a cable from Vienna to the New York Journal. This incurred the czar's wrath, and the grand duchess and her obscure husband were arrested in Warsaw. She was forcibly returned to St. Petersburg and her husband sent to Siberia without a chance to say a word in explanation.

The recent earthquake at Shemakha, in which thousands of persons were killed, has had a singular effect on the level of the Bladk sea and the Caspian, says a St. Petersburg dispatch. Ridges of rock have appeared at the points where the chart formerly marked fathoms of water. As a result of this the harbor of Ktasnovodsk, from which the Central Asian railway starts, cannot be entered by large vessels.

Peace Negotiations With the Boers.

The Pretoria correspondent of the London Standard cables that there is good reason to believe a tentative agreement has been arrived at between the Boers and British, which will prove mutually cordial and lead to an early cessation of hostilities.

The Utrecht correspondent of the London Daily Mail says it is recognized there that the Boer delegates at Pretoria have full powers to negotiate, without reference to the Boer leaders in Europe, who have no real influence on the peace negotiations.

T. F. Henderson, a porter in the Cosmat hotel in Kern City, Cal., was shot through the heart and instantly killed by Constable G. F. Strobel. The shooting was done presumably in self-defense. The peace officer was arrested, but was later released on his own recognizance. Strobel went to arrest Henderson on a charge of uttering fictitious checks, when he threatened to shoot the constable, who fired in self-defense.

The steamer Camano, owned by Captain Griggs of the Columbia and Okanogan steamer line, achieved the feat of ascending the Columbia river through Hell Gate, and navigating the river for 30 miles above the mouth of the Spokane. The run was made in a spirit of rivalry to forestall Captain J. D. Miller, who is now building a 125-foot steamer to ply the river from Wenatchee to Rickey rapids, near Kettle Falls. As a result of an examination of the river made in 1898, Captain Miller became convinced that the river was navigable over this reach. The Camano covered 102 miles of virgin water.

THEY CRUSH THE POWERS

This is written in mid-October. The long, oppressive summer is quite gone. Fading leaf, withering tree and the rustling corn in the fields are signs of the season. Fog, frost, rain, snow,—they are coming. You remember last winter; of 1900 and 1901. The weather was cruel. Ah! the thousands it killed, and the hundreds of thousands it maimed and crippled. Oh, the rough grasp it laid on men at work, women at home, and children in cribs and cradles. Coughs that began before Thanksgiving Day are racking and tearing them still; yes, and growing worse as they dig deeper into the poor, tired throat and lungs. Many were cured by using Benson's Porous Plasters. For the soothing and healing power of these Plasters is wonderful. They conquer the complaints

THAT ARE KILLING THE PEOPLE.

No other plaster, no other medicine or application, can compare with them. Coughs, colds, backache, rheumatism, lumbago, kidney and liver troubles, asthma, influenza,—they all go down before Benson's Plasters like a snow image in the sun. You can't throw money away on a Benson's Plaster. Everybody is going to use them this season. But make certain you get the genuine. All druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States on receipt of 25c. each.
